

EACH SENATOR WILL TALK IN LOBBY QUIZ

The President May Be the First Witness at Monday's Investigation.

QUESTIONS ABOUT TARIFF

Other Lobbies Than the One Wilson Told Of to Be Investigated.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The most extraordinary investigation ever conducted by either branch of Congress will get under way on Monday morning. It will be a public investigation conducted in the large hearing room of the Senate Office Building, where several hundred people can be accommodated as spectators.

The investigation will be conducted to determine whether there is any foundation for the charge made by the President of the United States in the public statement that a lobby "numerous, industrious and insidious" is assembled in Washington trying to influence the Senate to make changes in the Underwood tariff bill.

Five Senators will conduct the investigation as a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Judiciary. Senator Overman of North Carolina, chairman, and Senators Reed of Missouri and Walsh of Montana, Democrats, and Senators Cummins of Iowa and Nelson of Minnesota, Republicans.

President Woodrow Wilson may be the first witness. He will not be asked to appear, but the committee will afford him an opportunity under the resolution to supply information or answer any names that he may care to give to sustain the charges he has made. The President has expressed a willingness to give information and suggest names of men to whom he believes his charges will apply.

Each Senator to Testify.

Every Senator, ninety-six in all, will be required to appear and answer questions. The committee decided to order all Senators in the alphabetical order of their names, four at a time, and proposed to them eleven questions which were agreed upon to-day, after which members of the sub-committee will be free to ask any questions they may deem necessary. The eleven questions are:

1. Please state whether or not you are financially interested in the production, manufacture or sale of any article mentioned in the tariff bill or any other bill now pending in Congress or which has been considered during your term as Senator. If so, state fully the nature and extent of such interest and whether you ever sought to influence any other Senator as to the duties on such articles.

2. Please state whether or not you are connected professionally or otherwise, directly or indirectly with any person, firm, association, corporation or organization which is engaged in the manufacture, production or sale of any article named in the tariff bill now pending in Congress; if so, state whether you ever sought to influence any other Senator as to the duties on such articles.

3. Will you please give in so far as you are able to do so the names of all persons who have personally appeared before you during the present session for the purpose of influencing legislation now pending and especially the tariff bill?

4. Continuing yourself for the moment to the tariff bill, please state what schedules, paragraphs or items each of the persons whose names you have given were interested in, as developed by the representations made to you.

5. Describe the interviews you have had as fully as you can and state particularly whether any person has made any personal appeal or did more than merely present an argument upon the merits or demerits of the bill.

6. Have you known directly or indirectly attempted in any manner improperly to influence you or your action upon any legislation pending in Congress, especially the tariff legislation?

7. Do you know or have you any information of the use of any money or thing of value or of any other improper means or method to influence action upon any legislation pending in Congress, especially the tariff?

8. Do you know or have you any information of the use of money to maintain a so-called lobby here or elsewhere for that purpose? In connection with your answer state what you mean by the words "lobby" and "lobbying."

9. Do you know of any money being used directly or indirectly for the publication of newspaper advertisements or other newspaper campaign or other printed matter, intended to mislead or otherwise influence public men or public opinion?

10. Do you know of any lobby or lobbyist maintained in Washington or elsewhere to influence any legislation now pending before Congress?

11. Do you know or have you credible information of any person who has thrown any light upon the matters now under investigation? If so please state the same fully in your answer and if you have stated matter of information give the source of such information.

A Searching Quiz.
The sub-committee has decided not to construe the resolution in a limited way, but it will be a searching quiz. Chairman Overman admitted today that a group of newspaper men that he would probably have to tell the committee that he had a few shares of stock in a cotton mill.

Senator Nelson, another member of the sub-committee, made no concealment to-day of the fact that he owns a small farm near Alexandria, Minn., and that he is financially interested in the production and sale of articles mentioned in the tariff bill, such as livestock and other farm products.

Senator Walsh of Montana, another member of the committee, is said to be interested in a newspaper at Helena, Mont., which he recently acquired. There has been a sharp controversy before one of the sub-committees over the question of print paper and the charge has been made that newspaper publishers have been unduly favored by the retaliatory provisions of the Underwood bill, which do not extend to importations of print paper.

Aside from the members of the committee many other Senators are interested in newspapers. Senator Stephenson, who owns a daily newspaper in Milwaukee, will probably take up considerable time telling the sub-committee about his business connections, which ramify through about sixty corporations, every one of which, according to the Senator's frank admissions to-day, bear some relation to the tariff bill, and as the Senator is popularly credited with being twenty times a millionaire, he falls within that class who may be denominated as "financially" interested in articles mentioned in the tariff bill.

Will Cover All Lobbies.

All lobbies are to be probed and the sub-committee to-day issued a public invitation through the press to all persons who may have any information concerning lobbying at the Capitol to write the facts to the sub-committee over their names and addresses. Anonymous communications will be disregarded. The investigation will go back to cover the term of service of every man in the Senate, and some Senators have served more than twenty years, and ought to be able to relate some interesting history concerning the making of more than one tariff bill.

SALVATION CONGRESS OPENS.

Parade With Nine Bands Tuesday Will End Gathering.

The thirty-eighth annual Salvation Army Congress began yesterday with a reception to New York State delegates by Commander Eva Booth in the afternoon and a concert at night by the National Staff band and auxiliary talent in the headquarters at 122 West Fourteenth street.

There were 1,000 delegates. These will hear the Carnegie Hall lecture by Miss Booth to-day on "My Father," and attend the business meetings of Monday.

The parade Tuesday evening will take the delegates through the city behind nine bands.

NO EAST SIDE SHAVES OR HAIRCUTS TO-DAY

Week Day Prices, the Bosses Say, Will Stay at Strike Figures.

More than a thousand boss barbers on the East Side will close their shops on Sunday, beginning to-day, and for the first time in many years there will be no Sunday shaves or haircuts in that part of the town. The boss barbers' agreement with the Industrial Workers of the World, by which the strike was ended, provides that shops which were kept open until 1 P. M. on Sundays shall be closed all day.

The barbers had a half holiday on Friday in accordance with the agreement, which provides for half a day off on legal holidays. The hours of work on week days will be fewer than before the strike.

It was announced yesterday that the boss barbers' associations have agreed that the advances in shaves and haircuts, which were in effect during the strike because only the boss could work, are to be made permanent. The usual price has been 10 cents for a shave and 15 cents for a haircut. The prices are now 15 and 20 cents, and in some shops on the East Side 25 cents is charged for a haircut.

The prices of shampoos, electric massage, singeing and hair tonics are also to be increased. Saturday is a great day on the East Side for shaves and there were many remonstrances yesterday from customers. The bosses told them that they had to thank the I. W. W. for the increased charges.

A few East Side shops may open to-day, but the I. W. W. agents, it was said, will not let them try to get the barbers out of the shops.

Dr. Julius Browner, president of Boss Barbers Association No. 2, who was the spokesman during the strike for six associations of boss barbers, was out of town yesterday. His next door neighbor, "John the Barber," said the advanced prices had come to stay.

McREYNOLDS WAITS ON U. P.

He Does Not Consider Alternative Idea Worth Considering.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Attorney-General McReynolds expects to have the dissolution plan for the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific merger, which was agreed upon by representatives of the two carriers at a meeting in New York on Thursday submitted to him before it is presented to the Federal court for approval or rejection.

He has been given to understand by R. R. Heister, chief of the board of directors of the Union Pacific, that his attitude would be ascertained before the plan is taken before the court. The plan has not been presented to the Attorney-General so far.

It was learned yesterday that the Government does not consider the so-called alternative plan, which was made public on Thursday, which provides for the purchase of the franchise of the Union Pacific holdings in the Southern Pacific, while the stock is sold in the hands of the bank holding institution as trustee, worthy of further consideration.

So far as the Federal Government is concerned this leaves as the only possibility the plan which would result in the sale of the stocks in a manner similar to that by which New York city bonds are disposed of.

DANIELS VISITS WEST POINT.

Academy Makes Secretary Feel at Home With Lively Time.

West Point, May 31.—Secretary Daniels of the navy paid his first official visit to West Point to-day and got all the honors due his rank. The cadet corps was ordered out in summer white trousers, a new uniform, a reception was held at the home of the superintendent, Col. Townsend, and the game of baseball, which has become an annual event between the Army and Navy teams, was played.

Cen. Thomas H. Barry, commanding the Department of the East, was present, as were also a number of distinguished army and navy officers. Among the latter was Capt. Givens, superintendent of the Brooklyn navy yard, and Capt. John H. Gibson, superintendent of the Annapolis Naval Academy.

The trip up the river was made on the Dolphin, the Waup—having on board the First Battalion of Naval Marines of the State of New York—noting an escort to the Dolphin. Secretary Daniels was accompanied by his private secretary, Frank Smith, whom he appointed yesterday.

SELIGMAN LEAVES $50,000 TO A FRIEND

Miss Sutherland Gets More Than a Third of Broker's Estate.

GIFT TAKES PRECEDENCE

Fortune of Nearly $1,000,000 Reduced by Debts to $138,085.

When the appraisal of the estate of the New York Stock Exchange and a brother of Jefferson Seligman, the banker, was filed yesterday, it became known that in 1910 Mr. Seligman added a codicil to a will drawn in 1902 and gave $50,000 to Miss Anita Sutherland, then living at the Hotel Gerard, where Mr. Seligman also had apartments. Miss Sutherland now lives at 520 West 138th street.

Mr. Seligman committed suicide in the Hotel Gerard on February 12, 1912, by shooting himself. He had retired from the Stock Exchange three years before, and had been in poor health for twenty years. In 1897 a shot was fired in his room in a hotel at St. Augustine, Fla., and in 1908 he was arrested for trying to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a razor.

The appraisal of the estate shows that while he was ill Mr. Seligman continued to speculate in stocks, but out of his gross estate of $928,712, of which $921,205 was in securities, he had a net estate of only $138,085. He owed $768,435 to Stock Exchange firms, the larger claims being the following: Josephthal, Louchheim & Co., $188,014; Seligman & Co., $213,156; and Hirsch, Lillenthal & Co., $322,904. He had worthless securities, including 1,500 United Cattle, 200 Hackensack Meadows and 1,400 International Box-Hing Company.

In his will Mr. Seligman left the estate in equal shares to his brothers, DeWitt J. and Eugene, and his sisters, Mrs. Fannie S. Nathan, Mrs. Angeline Gross and Mrs. Cecile S. Lehman. He left nothing to his brother Jefferson, and nothing to his sister Florence Guggenheim, who died on the Titanic, "not because I entertain less affection toward either of them than toward my other brothers and sisters, but because their circumstances in life are more fortunate than those of my other brothers and sisters."

In providing for the bequest to Miss Sutherland the testator said:

"I give $50,000 absolutely to my friend, Miss Sutherland, residing at present at 143 West Forty-fourth street. It is my wish and I hereby direct that the legacy in this instance take precedence over and be paid prior to any legacies, whether general, specific, residuary or otherwise."

Mr. Seligman left $10,000 to be distributed among worthy institutions by his executor and directed that he disregard race and religion, but give preference to those that have for their object the relief, support and education of orphans and helpless children, the succor and rehabilitation of friends and fallen women and the prevention of cruelty to animals.

The executor, Eugene Seligman, gave $1,000 each to ten institutions.

ATTORNEY'S OWN WILL SET ASIDE AS INVALID

Robert Mather Drew It in Accord With Illinois, Not New York, Law.

Robert Mather, who died on October 24, 1911, and was chairman of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and general counsel for the Chicago and Alton Railroad, left an estate of $564,546, according to the transfer tax report filed yesterday.

The report shows that Mr. Mather, who was one of the best known railroad attorneys in the country, drew his own will, and that while it was valid in Illinois, where he lived prior to coming to New York, it was void in this State because of conflict with the statute limiting the extent to which an estate may be alienated.

A suit to have the will set aside was brought by the decedent's nephew, George Mather. The heirs agreed that the will was void, and joined in a petition to have it set aside and the estate distributed as if Mr. Mather had died intestate. Mr. Mather's heirs were his widow, Alice C. Mather; three brothers, James H. George and Edwin Mather, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Wood. The will left an income of $1,000 a year to each brother and $1,000 to the sister, and $1,000 to each of two nephews. The widow was left $10,000 a year.

When the estate was distributed after the will was declared void the widow received $941,868, and each brother and the sister got $60,388. Mr. Mather had $122,725 in cash, and $198,485 in securities. He had stock in the La Grange Mining Company, of which he was president, worth $35,000, and $77,862 in bonds of the Shoal Creek Coal Company. The Westinghouse company owed him $3,870 for salary and the Alton owed him $645. Mr. Mather was a director of the Equitable Life and was insured for $65,036.

The appraisal showed that among the securities of no value was an interest in the Country Club of Westchester, George T. Ade, president of the club, testified that the club now owns sixty-seven acres of valuable land, but has been losing money "very fast." He said that the members have been buying certificates of interest in the club, which are payable when the club is liquidated.

Concerning an investment of $500 in a supposed gold mine in Burma, India, the executor, Robert Walker, testified that there never was any gold in the mine, and that Mr. Mather put in his money "to get rid of a persistent promoter."
